Bring FREE mental health programming to your child's school

Active Minds Program Fund

Every student deserves the tools to understand mental health, support their peers, and know when and how to ask for help.

With support from Google.org, the Active Minds Program Fund is helping K-12 schools and youth organizations across the U.S. bring meaningful Active Minds mental health programming to students, regardless of their budget or location. Eligible organizations are encouraged to apply, with priority consideration given to those with limited funding or serving under-resourced communities.

THREE WAYS TO SUPPORT STUDENTS

Your child's school can choose from three proven Active Minds programs, each designed to meet students where they are.

With funding available through the Active Minds Program Fund, schools can bring one of more of these experiences directly to their students.

Why Bring Active Minds to Your School?

Active Minds Speakers

A trained speaker shares their personal mental health story, helping students feel less alone and opening honest, hopeful conversations.

Available in person or virtually.

Send Silence Packing®

An immersive, in-person exhibit for high schools and colleges that uses stories, photographs, and shared experiences to encourage reflection and conversation about mental health.

Live A.S.K. Workshop

An interactive workshop that teaches students how to Acknowledge, Support, and Keep-In-Touch when someone is struggling.

Available in person or virtually.

These programs can help students:

- Better understand mental health
- Feel more comfortable asking for support
- Learn how to support a friend
- Connect with trusted adults and available resources
- Help build a school culture where no one struggles alone

You can help bring an Active Minds program to your school

Parents and caregivers can be powerful advocates for student mental health.

You do not need to organize everything yourself. Start the conversation and help connect your school with Active Minds.

Take the First Step

Contact your school.

Share this flyer with your principal, school counselor, social worker, psychologist, or student support team. Ask whether they would consider bringing an Active Minds program to students.

Involve your PTA or PTO.

Invite your parent organization to discuss the opportunity, share it with other families, or help the school prepare an application.

Offer to help.

Volunteer to join a small planning team, identify potential dates, coordinate with school staff, or help build support among families.

Share this opportunity.

Send this flyer to other parents and caregivers who want stronger mental health resources in your school community.

Active Minds Program Fund

READY TO GET STARTED?

Ask your school to express interest or apply for funding today.

Schools should begin planning at least three months before their preferred program date. Active Minds can help school staff determine which program is the best fit and what support may be available.

Learn more at activeminds.org/program-fund

Need more information or help choosing a program?

Learn more using the QR code above!

Already selected a program, identified a possible date, and formed a small event team?

Apply for funding now!

The Active Minds Program Fund is supported by Google.org. Funding is available to eligible K-12 schools and youth-serving organizations across the United States.